BRITISH MONARCH SHOWS GREAT TACT

Makes Concessions to Mohammedans in India.

LORD MAYOR SORRY FOR SIMS

Reprimand Recalls Occasion When Naval Commander Expressed Opinion Which Stirred Germany—Asquith in High Spirits Over Result of the Recent Elections.

By WILLIAM T. STEAD.

London, Jan. 14.—The announcement that the King and Queen, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, will open Parliament on February 6 has given general satisfaction to the Liberals. They take it as a sign that the King is scrupulously following the advice of his ministers and has no inclination to hang back, as he might easily have done, in such a matter of pure ceremonial as that of opening Parliament.

The King will also have the particular satisfaction of being the first British monarch to make a declaration as to his Protestantism, which has been divested of all offense to Catholics. The alterations in the declaration were made by Parliament, but the initiative largely came from the King.

The scrupulous regard which the King is showing for the religious susceptibilities of his subjects is also a slight to the Anglo-Indian and Indian National parties. For once I found them in accord. Both deprecate the visit as involving risks which are out of proportion to its possible advantages. The initiative in the matter, as in the case of the alteration in the declaration, is a slight to the Anglo-Indian and Indian National parties. For once I found them in accord. Both deprecate the visit as involving risks which are out of proportion to its possible advantages. The initiative in the matter, as in the case of the alteration in the declaration, is a slight to the Anglo-Indian and Indian National parties.

I hear that Mr. Asquith is in the highest spirits. In the opinion of his colleagues and party his conduct in the last election was admirable, and now for the first time he is recognized as having won the right to the position which he occupies as leader of his party. After the previous general election he collapsed physically and mentally. For weeks his condition was that of nervous prostration which alarmed his friends. The last election left him in full strength of mind and body.

Lord Mayor Sorry for Sims.

The Presidential reprimand for Commander Sims for the frankness with which he expressed his personal opinion as to the future relations of the United States and Great Britain had one good effect. It caused thousands of people throughout the world to read what Sims said for one person who read it before. The critics of Commander Sims have thus unintentionally rendered him greater service, and the opponents of the sentiments which he expressed are to be congratulated upon having advertised throughout the world what would have otherwise passed unnoticed as an insignificant sentence in an after-dinner speech.

I was lunching with the lord mayor the day the paper announced the arrival of the Irish-American and German protest to Washington. Sir Veazey Strong, one of the kindest hearted of men, professed the profound regret that the hospitality of the city should have entailed this unexpectedly untoward consequence to one of its honored guests, Sir Veazey said: "I am afraid I led him on, and if so it was I who was really to blame."

OCEAN LINERS INSURED.

Olympic and Titanic Carry $5,000,000 Policies.

London, Jan. 14.—The two new White Star giants, Olympic and Titanic, have been insured this week in the London Marine Insurance market for $5,000,000 each. With the exception of the two Commodore, Lusitania and Mauretania, which are subsidized by the British government and were valued when new at $5,000,000 each, no other steamer in the British merchant service has ever reached that sum for insurance purposes.

Queen Mary Buys at Home.

London, Jan. 14.—Queen Mary is following the example set by her mother, the Duchess of Teck, who at the time of her daughter's wedding with the present King declared that for the trousseau "not a yard of cambric or linen, of flannel or tweed, of lace or ribbon should be bought outside the kingdom," and who kept to her word. Queen Mary is having her coronation robes and gowns for court functions as well as the opening of Parliament gown made by a British firm of all British material. She has ordered eight dresses so far and work on them has commenced.

THREATENS TO SUE VATICAN.

Marquis Whose Decoration Was Annulled May Seek Damages.

Rome, Jan. 14.—Mr. Macswiney, formerly a papal chamberlain, whose hereditary title of marquis, a pontifical decoration, was recently annulled by the Pope, threatens to claim from the Vatican the restitution of the $5,000 he paid for the marquisate and damages, as the annulment is unprecedented in heraldry. The Vatican refuses to refund the money, which, it says, does not represent the price of the title, but was a charitable contribution made when the donor was a Catholic, and hence irrevocable. Mr. Macswiney, owing to his divorce and remarriage, is now a Protestant.

DON JAIME TO WED BOURBON PRINCESS

Carlist Pretender's Engagement Pleases Royalists.

Paris, Jan. 14.—Don Jaime, Prince de Bourbon, Duke of Madrid, and pretender to the throne of Spain, has just become engaged to his cousin, Princess Zita de Bourbon of Parma. The engagement of the chief of the Carlists was announced after a council of Carlist leaders, held at the Chateau de Prohedorf, in Southern Austria, where Don Jaime now resides. This castle was left him by the late Count de Chambord, head of the French Bourbons. It is a great blow to Queen Christina, mother of King Alfonso, who is herself an Austrian archduchess, that the Carlists should be permitted to marry against her son in the land of her birth.

Though throned, Don Jaime is not only a Carlist chief, but he is the head of all the houses of the Bourbon family, while the Almonach de Gonahe says in without a rival in the history of humanity, and, hence, is the head of the Bourbons of France and Spain, the two Sicilies, and of the Bourbon family of Parma, from whom he is now about to take his wife.

His advisors have told him that were he to marry an American, even though it might be Miss Anne Morgan, he must say good-bye forever to his illustrious ancestors. In the light between love and duty, duty has won.

Don Jaime is now in his forty-first year, having been born at Vevey, Switzerland, in 1870. He was an officer of the Russian Hussars, and served with distinction in the late war with Japan. His fiancée is nineteen years old.

There is great rejoicing in palace circles over the coming marriage. To-day had been fixed for the wedding, but a death in the family necessitated a postponement. Don Jaime and Princess Zita are the great-grandchildren of King Charles X of Spain.

ENGLISH BREWER DUPED.

Sir William Bass Loses on Moving Picture Scheme.

London, Jan. 14.—Sir William Bass, a member of the famous family of Burton brewers, and who is generally credited with great wealth, is said to be in serious financial difficulties. He is a great racing fan, married a daughter of the Earl of Huntingdon, is a popular figure on every race track, and is affectionately called "Bully" by his friends.

His present trouble has arisen through a company promoter of whom little is known. Sir William handed post-dated notes for a sum said to be close to $100,000 to this person as security whereon to raise money to float a big scheme of moving-picture theaters. The money was duly raised, but the promoter and his two partners have vanished. A great deal more is likely to be heard about the case.

In addition to this misfortune, Sir William has already promised a loan of several thousand pounds to his friend, Arthur Lee Guinness, a connection of Lord Ingham, and Lord Ardilaun, the great Dublin brewers.

Guinness had got into trouble through "Bully" Bass in the usual impulsive way promised to pull him through. He is now endeavoring to negotiate a loan for this purpose with a famous money lender, but in view of the above situation he will be forced to pay an exorbitant rate of interest.

AMERICAN WOMAN PRAISED.

Portrait of Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt Attracts Attention in Paris.

Paris, Jan. 14.—The studio of Boldini, the famous painter, has become a fashionable haunt of the most fashionable Parisians. The great attraction this season is the splendid portrait of a beautiful American woman, Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, formerly Miss Edith S. Dresser, of New York.

Boldini says he has painted the portraits of many American women, but he has never had such a splendid model as Mrs. Vanderbilt. She poses as easily and naturally as any professional. Her portrait will be exhibited in the salon of the French artist, after which it will be sent to Baltimore to adorn a picture gallery there. Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt is well known in Parisian society. She lived here several years before her marriage to Mr. Vanderbilt, and their wedding was one of the great events of that season in Paris.

Last year the portrait of another Mrs. Vanderbilt was on exhibition in our salon. It was that of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and was from the brush of the great Francois Fleming. Now comparisons are being made between the two portraits of the two Madames Vanderbilts.

KING'S UNCLE IS COMING.

Duke of Connaught to Be Governor General of Canada.

London, Jan. 14.—Despite all reports to the contrary, your correspondent is able to announce authoritatively that the King's uncle, the Duke of Connaught, will be the next governor general of Canada. Moreover, it can be stated that his royal highness is practically "kept out of his job" by Earl Grey, the present governor general of the Dominion. Back of this curious condition there lies a still more curious story.

Earl Grey some time ago wanted to resign, but was requested by the government to remain in office over the coronation as well as to attend to the coronation of that occasion. Earl Grey did not relish this and reports began to be circulated that the duke fought shy of his Canadian appointment and was deferring to as long as possible his move to Ottawa.

As a matter of fact, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught had made all preparations to leave for Canada immediately after the coronation. Meanwhile, to their chagrin Earl Grey informed his government that he had stayed, he would stay for a year, that is until September, "so as to give his Canadian friends a chance to get to know him."

SILENT ON SUFFRAGE

British Officials Are Mum on Woman's Rights.

HOUSE SAID TO FAVOR VOTES

"Attitude Will Not Be Known Until Agitation Is Resumed and Immediate Enfranchisement Is Demanded," Says Suffragist Organ.

Societies Keep Record of Pledges.

London, Jan. 14.—"Until the work of agitation begins again and the demand for the immediate enfranchisement of women is laid before them in definite form, it will not be known how far the attitude of the government toward woman suffrage has been modified by recent political events," says Votes for Women. What is plain, it declares, is that the new House of Commons contains a very large and an increased majority in favor of enfranchising women. The different suffrage societies have made careful inquiry as to the record and pledges of each individual member of Parliament, and the result is as follows:

Members of Parliament prepared to vote for a woman suffrage bill on the lines of the coalition bill..... 97
Members prepared to vote for a woman suffrage bill on the lines of the coalition bill, but with a still more moderate measure of woman suffrage, though they voted against the coalition bill..... 2
Members who are neutral or were absent during the second reading of the coalition bill, so that no vote is recorded..... 75

Crown Not Selected.

Queen Mary has Not Yet Selected the Design for Her Crown for the Coronation.

As Queen Consort a Crown has to be Specially Made for Her, as the State Crown is Worn by the King.

Only a certain latitude of choice is allowed the Queen. She may decide on the shape with regard to the curve of the arches and their number; that is all. The crown must consist of a circle of diamonds resting on a narrow ermine border, a cap of crimson velvet, four crosses, and four diamond fleur-de-lis, as in the state crown. The diamonds will be set in platinum, but the pose of the hoops can be suggested by any crown of any period the Queen prefers, whether Hanoverian, Stuart, Tudor, or Plantagenet.

In the state crown there are four arches surmounted by a cross. Queen Alexandra chose to have eight hoops, after the fashion of the crown of James I, instead of four, and the arches were not so raised.

The present state crown was made from jewels taken from old crowns and other ornaments at the command of Queen Victoria. It has now in addition to one large ruby one large broad shaped sapphire, sixteen sapphires, eleven emeralds, four rubies, 1,261 brilliant diamonds, 1,272 ring diamonds, 147 table diamonds, four drop shaped pearls, and 272 pearls with the smaller of the Cullinan diamonds inset.

BAN ON LOW-NECK GOWNS

Queen Mary Disapproves of Court Custom.

Will Not Allow Ladies to Attend Functions in Other Than Conventional Attire.

London, Jan. 14.—Queen Mary, whose habits and ideas are very Puritanical in every way, has decided upon a crusade against the low-necked evening dress, and in this she has the full support of King George, who differs very considerably from his late father in his dislike of what he considers an indecent exposure.

During the reign of King Edward, and even under Queen Victoria, court dresses of ladies were cut low, but Queen Mary, whose neck, by the way, is not pretty-though that, of course, has nothing to do with it—has a great dislike for this fashion. She has made it clear to the ladies of her household that if a dress is cut away at the neck at all it should be as little as possible.

At the present time the edicts of the court make it compulsory for low-necked dresses to be worn on all "full dress" occasions, but this will be greatly modified during the next few years.

She prefers to introduce the innovation gradually, but she has already made it clear that elderly ladies and others, who desire to wear high-necked dresses at next season's season, do so without infringing any detail of court etiquette.

BAN ON BISMARCK'S BOOK.

Memoirs Will Not Be Published on Kaiser's Order.

Berlin, Jan. 14.—It is announced from Berlin that the third volume of Bismarck's memoirs will not be published during the present Kaiser's lifetime.

The first two volumes were published some years ago and contained many interesting revelations concerning political events of the period of Bismarck's official career and many sidelights on the history of those times.

The third volume is known to contain an unfavorable account of the present Kaiser, written in connection with the circumstances which led to Bismarck's dismissal from office in 1890, two years after William I's accession to the throne, when the Iron Chancellor conceived a fierce hostility toward the young, impetuous monarch.

OBJECT TO CARNEGIE GIFT.

German Papers Do Not Want Gifts from Iron Master.

Berlin, Jan. 14.—It was noticeable when the Carnegie hero fund for Germany was announced, not a single expression of gratitude could be found in the German press. The Span German News now deplores the fact that the Kaiser accepted it, as, it says, "Germany is no longer a land of beggars but is rich, even too rich. It ought not take a stranger's money for such a purpose."

The Social Democratic organ at Leipzig says officially Germany should be ashamed. It points out that the Reichstag recently rejected a proposal to use a compulsory insurance law to aid the widows and orphans of victims of accident and disaster. It adds that Carnegie's money was wrung from the blood and bones of American workmen and European immigrants. The Kaiser, the paper says, has no right to thank Carnegie in the name of the German people.

MANY SEEK LONDON HOUSE.

Americans Will Probably Buy Residence in Grosvenor Street.

London, Jan. 14.—It is now stated that the house in London which Mrs. George Kettle recently purchased in Grosvenor street, will be put up for sale next fall. Mrs. Leeds has a lease of the house, which only covers April, May, June, and July, so there should be some exciting bidding for the "desirable residence" when it comes into the market, as it is generally known that several prominent American hostesses are anxious to purchase.

Among these are Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Ava Astor, who is already looking out for a new house in London. The Kettle house has a magnificent ballroom, with Adams decorations, which is the chief attraction to hostesses, while the luxurious fittings of the bedrooms will appeal especially to Americans.

Another change of residence has just occurred. William Phillips, first secretary of the American Embassy, has, with Mrs. Phillips, just moved into a house in Great Stanhope street, recently vacated by Capt. Clowen, late military attaché to the embassy. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips intend during the coronation season to do a great deal of the minor entertaining which usually falls to the lot of the Ambassador, and they will initiate a series of regular weekly dinner parties.

PRICES OF FURS TO FALL.

Hunting Returns from Siberia Show Plentiful Supply for Women.

Paris, Jan. 14.—Pleasant news for the ladies is contained in a report from the French consul at St. Petersburg, to the effect that the hunting returns for the last few months in Siberia promise a reduction in the prices of furs. Common foxes, ermines, martens, and white foxes are abundant. Squirrels are scarcer than in 1909.

Ermine, which was quoted at the beginning of the winter at 275 rubles, has fallen to 135 rubles, compared with 250 and 2 rubles for the same article in 1909. Marten was quoted at 15 rubles, as compared with 19 the previous year, and white fox at 15 rubles, as against 21.3 rubles in 1909.

GERMAN BANKS COMBINE.

Old Institutions Amalgamate with Huge Capital.

Berlin, Jan. 14.—On the first of this month an important banking amalgamation became operative in Berlin. Schickler Brothers, the oldest banking institution in Berlin, founded in 1712, which possesses the confidence of the Prussian royal house, whose financial affairs it manages, and a number of other banks, have joined forces with Delbruck, Leo & Co., the chief partner of which, Ludwig Delbruck, is the Kaiser's financial adviser and a member of the government committee of the great firm of Krupp.

The joint capital is $1,500,000. Interest in this amalgamation on the continent lies chiefly in the fact that it is taken to signify a coming of age of the German and German finance, since two members of the Schickler firm reside permanently in Paris. It is also considered to mark a notable turn in the tide against the dominant influence of the great joint stock banks in Germany, against which private banks have hitherto been powerless.

ENGLAND BIG MONEY LENDER

John Bull Puts All Savings Out at Interest.

Records Show Country's Wealth Is Wisely Invested in Different Parts of World.

London, Jan. 14.—John Bull, unlike the French, does not hoard up his savings in a woolen stocking, but puts them at interest all over the world, with results that are sometimes surprising even to himself.

In the past sixty years the United Kingdom has invested abroad on the average about a quarter of its annual savings. Last year the proportion stood at nearly one-half. The Statist calculates that the total savings of the nation in 1909 have reached the unprecedented figure of $1,750,000,000.

Of this, $1,100,000,000 has been taken up by public bodies to publicly issued securities, and the balance by private investments. Of public subscriptions roughly $250,000,000 has been in respect of home and colonial governments and intercontinental white foreign governments and undertakings have absorbed $24,000,000. The United States comes first in the list with $97,500,000, mostly for railroad bonds, and dominating next to it, $81,000,000, while Canada, among the British possessions, is responsible for $24,410,000.

The first question that presents itself is, Where has all the money come from? Far the greater part has undoubtedly been provided by the British public, either directly or through banks or insurance and similar thrift-encouraging institutions. The present time is remarkable for the confidence of the British investor in industrial and financial conditions all over the world, and the knowledge of this has prompted the flotation of all kinds of enterprises on the London market.

MARRIAGE BUREAU ON ICE.

Skating Club in Paris Results in International Alliances.

Paris, Jan. 14.—The Skating Club of Paris, founded by Mrs. John G. Leishman, wife of the American Ambassador to Italy, has taken on a new lease of life. Formerly it met every Friday, now it holds reunions twice a week. On these occasions the Plaisir de Glace is given over exclusively to the members of this fashionable club.

This exclusiveness, however, has created a sort of skating aristocracy and our bourgeois resents the creation of a new caste. Hence the skating club has many enemies. Critics say spitefully the club is simply a matrimonial bureau in disguise. Others refer to it as "Mrs. Leishman's Folly." As a matter of fact the skating club is a skating club pure and simple and a very nice one at that.

It is true that it was at this club that Miss Leishman met the late Count Gontaut de Brion, was wooed by him and afterward became his wife. This is the reason perhaps why jealous non-members declared the club is a sort of matrimonial bureau. There, too, I remember now that Mrs. Hamilton Paine also met her new husband, the Duke de Prædlin.

Cavaliers Not Compulsory.

Paris, Jan. 14.—Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the opera singer, who is the wife of Robert Winthrop Chanler, started for Russia to-day. She will give six performances at St. Petersburg, including one of "Thais." Before leaving Paris Mme. Cavalieri said although her health had been restored, she did not feel strong enough to sing in Boston or New York.

Clearing Sale of Lace Curtains In Odd Patterns

ALL our odd patterns of Lace Curtains are to be disposed of to-morrow at ABOUT HALF PRICE. We have only one or two patterns of a kind, and they represent all grades up to those formerly selling at $17.50 a pair. This exceptional opportunity should bring a throng of buyers to our store to-morrow who know the quality of our stock and appreciate such substantial reductions. We advise an early visit to the store, as the nature of the sale admits of no replenishing of stock.

THE following Curtains are patterns of which we have only one pair each: the one-half of each pair, having served as our store sample, is slightly soiled from handling.
